Why should students play sports? Some people think that students play sports in order to get exercise. Others think it can help students have fun. But that is not enough. If students play sports, they can get more than healthy bodies. Why? Here are three more reason.

Students who play sports do better in school. Some people think that doing exercise will take up students' study time. But a recent study has shown that students who play sports get better scores in school than those who don't. Exercise gets students to learn, remember things and concentrate（集中注意）better.

Students who play sports develop their teamwork spirits and learn problem-solving skills. When they are working together with others to win games and reach goals, they're learning how to be successful in practice. And these skills will be useful to them for study or their future work.

Playing sports can also improve confidence. Students who play sports feel better about themselves. When they know they can improve and reach their goals by practicing, it builds their confidence. And sports can also help them communicate with others actively and make new friends.

Now, how about going out to play sports with your friends every day?

- () 61. Students play sports only for getting exercise or having fun.
 () 62. Students who play sports can learn better than those who don't.
 () 63. Doing sports must help students win games and reach goals.
 () 64. Students can improve their confidence by playing sports.
 () 65. The writer thinks students should be allowed to play sports.

Can you remember the day when you spoke your first word? If you can, you are unusual. Try to imagine what first few months of your life were like. I am sure you just spent most of your time eating, sleeping and crying. As you grew older, you were awake more of the time, It took your parents more time to play with you and talk to you. You watched and listened curiously(好奇地). You began to know that people made certain sounds to go with certain things.

Then you began to try making the sounds you heard. And step by step, you were able to make the right sound for one thing. On that way you came to understand the secret of language: a certain sound means a certain thing. When a group of people use the same set of sound of things, they can understand each other. Then, and only then, these people have a language.

After you found the secret of language, you learned words. Some of the words meant things, such as books chairs and shoes. Some words meant doing things, such as go and swim. And other words described things, such as good and dirty. Soon you learned to put words together to express your idea such as "I want to go out and play with my friends."

This is language. By means of language, people can communicate. So we say languages are means of communication.

The idea that red means stop and green means do has influenced our lives in more ways than just traffic signals (信号). We have been ___1___ from a young age the the color red means danger and green means it's okay to move forward. But why were those colors chosen for traffic lights in the first place? For something we have to look at every day, why couldn't they have been ___2___ colors?

Well, it's import to know that before traffic lights for cars, there were traffic signals for trains.At first, railway companies used red to mean stop, white to mean go, and green to mean ____3____. As you could imagine, trains ran into a few problems ____4____ white meaning go. For example, one train mistook a white bright star for a white light and something ____5____ happened. Because of that, railway companies ____6____ moved green meaning go and used yellow to mean warn. And it's been that way ever since.

Red has always been a color that mean danger, long before cars were even around. This most likely started because it's the color with the ____7____ wavelength(波长) so it can be seen somewhere farther than other colors.

But, believe it or not, yellow was once used ____8____ stop. Back in the 1900s, some stop signs were yellow because it was too hard to see a red sign in a poorly lit area. Finally, highly reflective things (高反射物) were developed and red stop signs were born. Since yellow can be seen well at all ____10____ of a day, school zones, some traffic signs, and school buses continue to be printed yellow.

So next time you are impatiently ____10____ at traffic light, don't get so mad at them, they've certainly come a long way.

B) 完成表格。阅读下面短文，根据其内容，完成表格中所缺的信息。(共 5 小题，每小题 1 分，计 5 分)

Nobody likes making mistakes. But, no one is perfect. If you can learn from mistakes correctly, they can move you forward.

If you have made mistakes that ham other people, it is important to offer a true apology (道歉) in person. A good apology will probably make the other person forgive (原谅) you. If you refuse to apologize, the other person will hold it against you.

If you go through life afraid to make a mistake, you will spend most of your life doing nothing. There is no harm in making mistakes; it is a part of going forward. The more duties you take, the more mistakes you will possibly make.

Unluckily, it is natural to justify (为.....辩解) our actions. When you make a mistake, you will first blame someone else. When mistakes are made, the boss won't be interested in justifications. Sometimes it is best to say, very simply--yes, I made a mistake.

Mistakes happen for different reasons. To avoid repeating them, you need to understand the main reason. For example, you may have made a mistake by saying some unkind words. If you make mistakes because you are tired, try to get more sleep; if you are stressed, look at ways to relax and keep away from the stress of work.

You should avoid feeling sad about making mistakes, but at the same time, you should make a decision to learn from them. If you repeat the same mistakes, it shows you aren't making progress. Often mistake are caused by bad habits. To avoid making the same mistakes you need to break these bad habits. The sooner, the better.

The correct ___ 6 ___ to learn from mistakes
Advice	Situations
Say sorry truly.	The person who ___ 7 ___ by you will forgive you.
Don't be afraid to make mistakes.	A man man who make no mistakes usually does not make anything
Don't spend time justifying to ___ 8 ___ you're right	When a mistake is made, you'd better apologize rather than blame it on someone else.
Understanding ___ 9 ___ the mistake happened	You may make different kinds of mistakes. Find the right reasons and try to avoid the same mistake.
Avoid making the same mistakes.	Break your bad habits ___ 10 ___ soon ___ 10 ___.

6. _____ 7. _____ 8. _____ 9. _____ 10. _____
